CURT MILLER

HEAD COACH & GENERAL MANAGER

In his third season with the Connecticut Sun, Curt Miller has established himself as one of the top coaches in the WNBA, leading the Sun back to the WNBA playoffs for the second straight year with a 21-13 record.

Behind a record-breaking offense, the Sun won more than 20 games for the second straight season, a feat last accomplished in Connecticut during 2011-12. The general manager and head coach of the team, Miller is now 56-46 (.549) in three regular seasons. Only Minnesota (73), Los Angeles (71) and Seattle (57) have won more games since Miller took over the Sun. More impressively, since starting 3-13 in his first season, Miller is 53-33 (.616). In that span, only Minnesota (60-26, .698) and Los Angeles (56-30, .651) have been better.

In 2018, the Sun established new franchise records for scoring average (87.6 ppg), total points (2,979), made field goals (1,144), shooting percentage (.466), made three-pointers (258), three-point attempts (703), three-point shooting percentage (.367) and assists (666). Five of those records – three-point field goals, three-point shooting percentage, total points, made field goals and scoring average – were set by the Sun under Miller last year.

Connecticut scored 100 points in a game six times, a single-season franchise high, and became the first team in league history to have nine different players score 20 points at least once. The Sun were the only team in the WNBA to finish with five players averaging double figures.

The Sun started 7-1 this season, then weathered a 3-9 stretch that included 10 games without All-Star forward Alyssa Thomas (shoulder injury) and four games without starting guard Courtney Williams (personal reasons). Connecticut finished by winning nine of 10 to close out the season.

Miller has repeatedly demonstrated an ability to guide his Sun teams through adversity.

Saddled with the loss of star forward Chiney Ogwumike to an Achilles injury before the 2017 season even began, Miller kept the Sun focused through a 1-5 start, injuries to Morgan Tuck and Lynetta Kizer, and the three-game absence of starting guard Alex Bentley, who represented Belarus in the FIBA EuroBasket Women's tournament.
From 1-5, the Sun rallied to win five straight, then reeled off 14 wins in 16 games while putting up franchise record numbers on offense for scoring average (86 ppg), made threes (223), and made field goals (1,098). For his accomplishments, Miller was recognized as the 2017 WNBA Coach of the Year, WNBA Executive of the Year and Associated Press Coach of the Year.

After a 3-13 start, the Sun were 11-7 from July 2nd until the end of the season, closing with three straight victories to finish 14-20. Connecticut beat defending WNBA champion Minnesota twice, and lost three games to 2016 WNBA finalist Los Angeles by 7, 6 and 5 points. A total of 21 Sun games were decided by fewer than 10 points, and Connecticut was 8-3 in games decided by five points or less.

The former head women's basketball coach at Indiana University and Bowling Green State University, the 48-year-old Miller brought an extensive track record of success to Connecticut.

In 13 seasons, he compiled an overall college coaching record of 290-124, leading his teams to the postseason in nine of his last 10 years as a college coach. Miller had 10 seasons with 21 or more wins and four seasons with 28 or more wins while averaging 22.3 victories per season. He led his teams to eight regular season conference championships and five conference tournament championships.

At Bowling Green, Miller set the record for most coaching victories in a career (258) and a season (31 in 2006-07) while earning a Mid-American Conference (MAC) record six Coach of the Year awards. BGSU won eight regular season MAC titles and five MAC tournament championships under Miller, who guided the Falcons to five NCAA tournament appearances and three berths in the WNIT. His 2007 Bowling Green team was the first in MAC history to reach the Sweet 16.

In 2012, Miller moved on to Indiana, where he engineered a remarkable turnaround. Inheriting a 6-24 team, he led the Hoosiers to 11 wins in his first season. In 2014, the Hoosiers set a program record with 14 straight victories on the way to 21 wins and a spot in the WNIT quarterfinals. The 21 wins tied a program record, and the team also tied a record for most post-season wins. Miller left Indiana following the 2014 season, joining the Los Angeles Sparks as an assistant coach under Brian Agler in 2015.

Prior to Bowling Green, Miller was the associate head women's basketball coach at Colorado State. He also served as an assistant coach at Colorado State, Syracuse, Cleveland State and Kent State.

A five-time WBCA Regional Coach of the Year, Miller was also a five-time finalist for National Coach of the Year. Since 2005, only Miller, UConn coach Geno Auriemma and Stanford coach Tara Vanderveer have been National Coach of the Year finalist five or more times.

Off the court, Miller had a 100 percent graduation rate for players who exhausted their eligibility, and his teams had a combined GPA of 3.0 or higher in every season he coached. His teams also finished in the Top 25 four times in the WBCA Academic Team Honor Roll. Every player who completed four seasons in Miller's programs graduated, won a conference title and played in the NCAA Tournament.

Nationally, Miller served on the WBCA Board of Directors from 2008-10, the WBCA/Russell Athletic National Coach of the Year Committee Chair from 2009-14, and was on the NCAA National Rules Committee from 2009-10. Additionally, Miller worked on the CBS Sports Network broadcast of the Preseason WNIT Championship in 2014 and 2015.

Miller graduated from Baldwin-Wallace College in 1990 with a Bachelor of Arts in Physical Education and Business Administration.
